Long before Council lines were drawn, the land which we now know as the City of Darebin was cared for by the Wurundjeri Willam people of the Kulin Nation.

We acknowledge the Wurundjeri Willam people as the traditional custodians of this land and pay our respects to their Elders past, present, and emerging.

Further to this, Darebin City Council acknowledges the Wurundjeri Tribe Land and Compensation Cultural Heritage Council Aboriginal Corporation (herein referred to as the Wurundjeri Land Council) as descendants and representatives of the Wurundjeri people, whose lands span the area now known as Greater Melbourne.

While the Wurundjeri Land Council is not located within the City of Darebin, we recognise the important role the Wurundjeri Land Council plays in:

- protecting and managing local Aboriginal cultural heritage
- local natural resource management
- providing cultural consultations, education, tours and cross-cultural awareness training
- offering cultural practices such as Tanderrum (Welcome to Country), smoking/cleansing ceremonies, dance/performance and artworks
- providing guidance and upholding cultural integrity regarding the use of the Woiwurrung language when naming places, products or events.

For more information on the Wurundjeri Land Council’s history and services, Wurundjeri Ancestors, and significant places, please go to: www.wurundjeri.com.au
Purpose statement

Darebin City Council recognises, pays respect to and celebrates the long-standing Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and heritage within our community. Council is committed to building strong partnerships with the local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community, and contributing to the journey towards reconciliation.

This map has been created to help guide new and existing community members and visitors to the rich Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture and heritage that exists within Darebin. As part of this acknowledgment and celebration of culture, the spirit of self-determination and achievement, we have chosen not to list the many mainstream organisations that provide designated services to the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community.

We hope the whole community can use this resource as a guide to recognising, celebrating, and engaging with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, culture and organisations.

Darebin City Council has worked diligently to capture all of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander points of interest within our municipality. However, due to the dynamic nature of service provision, some information may have been unintentionally omitted.

This is by no means an extensive listing of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander organisations or points of interest, as many more organisations and important sites lie beyond Darebin’s municipality. The information supplied within this publication has been provided by the agency or organisation it references. While care has been taken in collating this information, Darebin Council takes no responsibility for errors or inaccuracy of the content provided.
Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander Event Calendar

Survival Day – 26 January
This date marks the arrival of the First Fleet in Sydney Cove in 1788. It is recognised by many as a time to recognise the ongoing survival of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and culture.

Anniversary of the National Apology to the Stolen Generations – 13 February
On 13 February 2008, the Australian Government and Parliament issued a formal apology to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples – particularly the Stolen Generations.

National Close the Gap Day - Third Thursday in March
This annual day of recognition aims to raise awareness of and promote meaningful action against the health inequality that exists between Indigenous and non-Indigenous people in Australia.

Harmony Day – 21 March
Harmony Day coincides with the United Nations International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination. Harmony Day promotes the celebration of Australia’s cultural diversity, inclusiveness, respect and belonging.

National Sorry Day – 26 May
National Sorry Day is a day to acknowledge the impact of previous government policies which saw the forcible removal of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children from their families.

Anniversary of the 1967 Referendum – 27 May
On this day in 1967, a national referendum to determine whether the Australian Constitution should be amended to be more inclusive of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities was held. The overwhelming majority of people (90.77%) voted in favour, allowing Aboriginal peoples to be counted in the Census and giving Federal Parliament the power to make laws for Indigenous people.

National Reconciliation Week – 27 May – 3 June
National Reconciliation Week (NRW) is bookended by two major events in Australia’s reconciliation: Anniversary of the 1967 referendum and Mabo Day. NRW is a chance to celebrate and build on respectful relationships between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and the wider Australian population.
Mabo Day – 3 June
Mabo Day commemorates Eddie Koiki Mabo, who campaigned for Indigenous land rights and was the key plaintiff in a claim for ownership over traditional lands on Mer Island in the Torres Strait. On 3 June 1992, the High Court of Australia ruled in favour of Mabo and his fellow plaintiffs, overturning the concept of Australia being “terra nullius” or “nobody’s land” prior to European settlement.

Coming of the Light – 1 July
Coming of the Light is the celebration of the 1871 arrival of the London Missionary Society at Erub (Darnley Island) in the Torres Strait.

NAIDOC Week – First full week (Monday to Sunday) in July
NAIDOC Week is an opportunity for all Australians to celebrate Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander history, culture and achievements. Regular NAIDOC events include a flag-raising ceremony, the NAIDOC Awards, NAIDOC March and the NAIDOC Ball.

National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Children’s Day – 4 August
Children’s Day is an opportunity for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander families to celebrate the strengths and culture of their children. It is also a chance for all Australians to show support for and learn about the impact that culture, family, and community play in the life of all children.

Wurundjeri Week – First full week (Monday to Sunday) in August
Wurundjeri Week acknowledges and celebrates the traditional owners of the land now known as Greater Melbourne. Events throughout the week acknowledge the history and culture of the Wurundjeri people and aim to share this with the non-Indigenous community.

International Day of the World’s Indigenous Peoples – 9 August
International Day of the World’s Indigenous Peoples is an occasion to promote and protect the rights of the world’s Indigenous populations, and to recognise their achievements and contributions across the world.
