Donating well

Are you decluttering?
Why not consider donating your pre-loved items to your local op shop.

Op shops promote a circular economy

A circular economy aims to eliminate waste and continually re-use, repair and recycle resources to create a closed loop system.

Why shop at op shops?

- To improve social outcomes and support people who experience disadvantage
- To discover a world of fabulous clothing and unique treasures
- To pick up amazing bargains
- To reuse perfectly good items and be a part of the sustainable fashion movement
- To have the opportunity to engage with your local community
- To reduce your carbon footprint, as the fashion industry emits more carbon than international flights and maritime shipping

Donating to op shops

When thinking about donating to your local op shop, first ask yourself, “Is this good enough to give to a friend?” Remember that op shops can only accept saleable items.

- Check with your local op shop on what they do and don’t accept
- Ensure your donations are in good, clean saleable condition
- Donate your items during the stores opening hours
